Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Wednesday 17 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Rain spreading north, persistent across western hills. Strengthening winds.

This Evening and Tonight:
Fine, but breezy evening, although cloud soon thickening from the south. Strengthening winds, along with a band of rain then spreading north. Rain heavy and perhaps persistent across some western hills, but clearing eastern parts through the early hours. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Thursday:
Cloudy and windy, with rain spreading east through the morning. Turning drier and brighter through the afternoon, with sunny spells and winds easing. Further outbreaks of rain spreading east later. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Changeable and often windy with periods of rain likely throughout. Rain will be heavy at times, especially across western hills. Some bright or sunny interludes also likely. Rather mild.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.